

第一部分 听力(共两节,满分 30 分)

第一节 (共 5 小题;每小题 1.5 分,满分 7.5 分)

听下面 5 段对话。每段对话后有一个小题,从题中所给的 A、B、C 三个选项中选出最佳选项。听完每段对话后,你都有 10 秒钟的时间来回答有关小题和阅读下一小题。每段对话仅读一遍。

1. What are the speakers probably doing?

- A. Discussing at work.
- B. Talking on the phone.
- C. Driving on the way.

2. What will the man do next?

- A. Have a dessert.
- B. Pay the check.
- C. Ask for a beer.

3. What do we know about the hamburger?

- A. It might go bad.
- B. It's good-looking.
- C. It looked funny.

4. What are the speakers mainly talking about?

- A. The scenery.
- B. The transport.
- C. The weather.

5. How does the woman sound in the end?

- A. Glad.
- B. Surprised.
- C. Impatient.

第二节 (共 15 小题;每小题 1.5 分,满分 22.5 分)

听下面 5 段对话或独白。每段对话或独白后有几个小题,从题中所给的 A、B、C 三个选项中选出最佳选项。听每段对话或独白前,你将有时间阅读各个小题,每小题 5 秒钟;听完后,各小题将给出 5 秒钟的作答时间。每段对话或独白读两遍。

听第 6 段材料,回答第 6、7 题。

6. What's the speakers' final decision?

- A. To play basketball.
- B. To exercise legs and forearms.
- C. To exercise arms and stomachs.

听力

7. When does the conversation probably take place?

- A. On Wednesday.
- B. On Tuesday.
- C. On Friday.

听第 7 段材料,回答第 8、9 题。

8. What's Missy doing now?

- A. Listening to music.
- B. Playing in the garden.
- C. Preparing for the exam.

9. What does the woman suggest?

- A. Talking with Missy.
- B. Leaving Missy alone.
- C. Meeting Mary outside.

听第 8 段材料,回答第 10 至 13 题。

10. What is the man?

- A. A physician.
- B. A host.
- C. A manager.

11. Why did Susan leave the job at the hospital?

- A. To take piano lessons.
- B. To have more free time.
- C. To try a new life.

12. How does Susan feel about her job now?

- A. Tired.
- B. Content.
- C. Displeased.

13. What is the probable relationship between Susan and Carl?

- A. Co-workers.
- B. Neighbors.
- C. Classmates.

听第 9 段材料,回答第 14 至 17 题。

14. Where does the conversation probably take place?

- A. In a park.
- B. At a store.
- C. In the street.

15. What does the woman intend to do?

- A. Meet her friend.
- B. Go to Queen Street.
- C. Go to a tower.

16. What do we know about the Cock & Bull?

- A. It offers delicious steaks.
- B. It lies next to the bank.
- C. It moved 30 years ago.

17. What's the man like?

- A. Open-minded.
- B. Warm-hearted.
- C. Well-educated.

听第 10 段材料,回答第 18 至 20 题。

18. Who called for help about the cougar (美洲狮) attack?

- A. The cyclists.
- B. The witnesses.
- C. The police.

19. What happened to the planes?

- A. They broke the speed record.
- B. They landed at high speed.
- C. They arrived before schedule.

20. Which place will probably suffer a second disaster?

- A. Los Angeles County.
- B. Ventura County.
- C. Orange County.

第二部分 阅读(共两节,满分 50 分)

第一节 (共 15 小题;每小题 2.5 分,满分 37.5 分)

阅读下列短文,从每题所给的 A、B、

C、D 四个选项中选出最佳选项。

A

阅读 + 完形

全文翻译

阅读 + 完形 全文翻译

A

Each fall, millions of butterflies across the U.S. and Canada fly up to 3,000 miles to southwestern Mexico. Travelers can see the butterflies overwintering on the Western Monarch Trail, a 465-mile, road trip-friendly conservation initiative that links over a dozen stops along the route.

Helping the butterflies

Organizers created educational panels in English and Spanish explaining the butterflies' annual traveling and their trouble. The signs also outline ways travelers can help the butterflies recover, such as by supporting chemical-free farms and planting native nectar (花蜜) gardens.

Why butterflies fly to the California coast

Many stops on the trail, including Pismo State Beach Monarch Butterfly Grove and Andrew Molera State

Park, are overwintering sites where, from October to February, travelers can see thousands of butterflies gathering in forests in areas with mild temperatures, dappled (斑驳的) sunlight, high dampness, and little to no wind.

Other sites, like the San Luis Obispo Botanical Garden and Avila Valley Barn, grow flowers that provide sugary, high-calorie food for the butterflies to eat. Butterflies settling here demonstrate how vital nectar plants are to their survival.

How to explore the Western Monarch Trail

The butterflies' behavior varies at different times of day and depends on the weather. In the mornings, while temperatures are still cool, step out of the cabin (木屋) in the Fernwood Resort where you stay overnight, and you'll find many butterflies hanging together on the branches and trunks of trees at the overwintering sites. As the day starts to heat up — typically by late morning or early afternoon — you'll be amazed at the phenomenon "sunburst" — the butterflies start flying around in search of nearby nectar. Keep your eyes skyward. Don't grab your camera. Just be in the moment.

21. What's the Western Monarch Trail initiative aimed at?

- A. Providing a travel route.
- B. Encountering butterflies.
- C. Promoting organic farming.
- D. Advocating species conservation.

22. What do we know about Andrew Molera State Park?

- A. It holds many nectar gardens.
- B. It's pleasant throughout winter.
- C. It has sufficient food for butterflies.
- D. It's home to butterflies all year around.

23. What is guaranteed for the travelers along the Western Monarch Trail?

- A. Signs to guide the route.
- B. Cameras for recording videos.
- C. Ready shelters to stay overnight.
- D. Experiences of watching "sunburst" at dawn.

Janice Yucht went to New York City Justice on Sept. 1, requesting her daughter back home out the $145 a week she earned at a women's home. With that small income, she had no other transportation, nothing to eat for the next month.

Over the winter, Yucht closed down at the Interfaith, the former Salvation Army shelter, getting up early and before 10 a.m. each day.

Yucht says a lot changes. Millions around the world make a living from poverty through waste and recycling it. They play a vital role in keeping society sustainable. In New York City, the administration department collects only about 23 percent of the trash that could be recycled. Flatbush collects 100 million additional recyclable tons of trash every year.

Her collection are cited as in government policies. Superior Court of the District of Columbia in 1998 ruled that household garbage is public property and it is not illegal to collect it for profit to assist others for a fee. But that practice hasn't always been extended to recyclers. And in places like New York City, which is forcing city-owned facilities to turn garbage from waste, the conditions are made clearly impossible to collect.

"That's value is for society, and we feel that value should belong to the people, not the city or the corporations," says Ross Costello, director of a non-profit recycling and community center in Brooklyn.

Recyclers or not, waste pickers have long been treated with disrespect. Yucht recalls an occasion when someone living next to a building where she was collecting trash threw trash at her. "It has become a norm, a social norm I am part of a process that causes this," she says.

Some governments are starting to realize that protecting the environment and income go hand in hand. The United Nations' 2000 Agency for Sustainable Development, for example, calls for an end to poverty and all the risks it brings.

24. What is the author's purpose of writing this letter?

- A. To highlight waste collectors' role
 B. To offer insight into their hardship
 C. To praise her daughter as her daughter
 D. To show the seriousness of unemployment

25. How does the author show the importance of waste pickers' work?

- A. By contrasting
 B. By citing statistics
 C. By giving definitions
 D. By cause-effect analysis

26. What would Maria agree with?

- A. Between a brother
 B. No job is noble or humble
 C. The early bird catches the worm
 D. One good turn deserves another

27. Which of the following is the best title for the text?

- A. You can be evil parents
 B. This costs our garbage
 C. This takes time for success
 D. You should be simple citizens

2-2 20 20

The greatest item (国宝) of the world-wide celebration held in 2011 to honor the 200th anniversary (200 周年) of the first edition of the German Kinder- und Hausmärchen includes the discovery that most people really don't know the original German tales published in two volumes in 1812 and 1815.

If we return to take a closer look at the first edition, we find it was this edition that inspired scholars of folk culture throughout Europe to gather their folk oral traditions and preserve them for future generations.

When Jacob Grimm and Wilhelm Grimm began collecting all kinds of folk tales and songs at the beginning of the 19th century, what made them consistent at all German literature was a belief that the most original and pure forms of culture were found in the past, while modern literature, even though it might be remarkably rich, was artificial and thus could not express the genuine quality of folk culture that originated naturally from people's experiences and bound the people together. Besides speaking, the Grimm sought to collect and preserve ancient forms consisting of tales, songs and documents. They intended to demonstrate how natural language, originating from the social and customs of the common people, created genuine bonds and helped form civilized communities.

Turning to the first edition, a reader might notice that, unlike earlier the final edition of 1817, the first edition contains more genuine folk tales, keeping spoken and raw versions, despite the fact that the language is not as pleasing as that in later revised versions. For instance, Snow White's mother, can be remember, want to kill the beautiful girl out of envy, everything she can find about the book and their stories can find here, ranging from a lesson from women how to express their feelings, even through magic, incredible transformation and cruelty are involved.

Lastly, the German little-known first edition uses important values that are usually deep within us. Hence, the consistency of the German tales that are reflected in them, but not.

28. According to the author, why should we remember the Grimm's first edition?

- A. To explore its origin
 B. To appreciate its significance
 C. To honor its 200th anniversary
 D. To remember the Brothers Grimm

29. What is paragraph 1 of the text mainly about?

- A. The quality of folk culture
 B. The contents of the first edition
 C. The function of the old German literature
 D. The motivation of the Grimm collecting tales

30. What can we learn about Snow White in the first edition?

- A. It is barely based on the folk tales
 B. It inspires readers to imagine into life
 C. It is appealing to in beautiful language
 D. It expresses envy and cruelty of the stepmother

31. What can we infer about the Brothers Grimm from the text?

- A. They were collectors of language
 B. They kept their style in later editions
 C. They thought highly of modern literature
 D. They were passionate in preserving folk culture

If you live on this planet, there's a decent chance you've seen the classic Star Trek episode, in which Captain Kirk and several members find themselves in what appears to be another universe.

These days, it seems the idea of the multiverse — many worlds — is having its Hollywood moment. Its appeal as a storytelling device is obvious — characters explore a multi-world with varying degrees of similarity to our own, as well as different versions of themselves. Hence, it has been fully established in mainstream pop culture.

While Hollywood can't seem to get enough of the multiverse, it remains deeply controversial (有争议的) among scientists. Advocates on the two sides show no mercy toward each other in their books and on their blogs. But physicists didn't pull the idea out of thin air — rather, several distinct lines of reasoning seem to point to the multiverse's existence. However, critics warn that making the multiverse legal could make it harder for the public to distinguish speculative (推测性的) theories from established fact, making it more difficult to keep pseudoscience (伪科学) at bay. Giving credit to such speculation risks "turning fundamental physics into pseudoscience".

The multiverse controversy is rooted in the idea of testability. If we can't interact with these other universes, or detect them in any way, some experts insist that reduces them to mere philosophical speculation. But Carroll, an advocate for "many worlds", argues that mathematics is the language describing our physical theories. If Schrödinger's equation (方程), on which quantum (量子) mechanics rests, predicts the existence of many worlds, so be it.

Could a more expansive view of the universe itself be the next breakthrough? As Siegfried puts it, "Every time in the past that we've thought, 'We've got it; this is what the whole universe is' — the people who've said, 'Maybe there's more than one of those' have always turned out to be right."

32. Why is Hollywood so occupied with the multiverse?
- It makes for engaging plots.
 - It is a much-talked-about topic.
 - It is helpful to popularize science.
 - It dominates the mainstream pop culture.

33. What do the underlined words in Paragraph 3 probably mean?
- Out of date.
 - Out of place.
 - Out of nowhere.
 - Out of the question.

34. According to the opponents, the basic standard of fundamental physics is that _____.
- it can be detected somehow
 - it can be reasoned logically
 - it can be interpreted philosophically
 - it can be predicted by mathematics equation

35. What might be the author's attitude toward the

- multiverse?
- Doubtful.
 - Dismissive.
 - Unclear.
 - Approving.

第二节 (共 5 小题; 每小题 2.5 分, 满分 12.5 分)

阅读下面短文, 从短文后的选项中选出可以填入空白处的最佳选项。选项中有两项为多余选项。

After building some "standard" cargo bikes, 36 _____, this time with something very special. I wanted to build an ideal cargo bike combining the stability of a three-wheeler with the possibility to change directions like being on two wheels.

The first step was to do extensive research. 37 _____. An incredible source of technical inspiration was the online Tilting (倾斜) Group. Although primarily concerned with tilting concepts of engine driven constructions, the group is surely the best place to find information about constructing a tilter.

After researching and outlining a few ideas, I grabbed some parts and started with a very simple prototype (雏形). Building such a vehicle needs a high degree of accuracy, which was not the case with my prototype. 38 _____. So I made a few more sketches (草图), which led to an improved version of the driving and tilting mechanism.

Then I started building the tricycle. Building the structure was quite straightforward. As usual I took an old bike apart for the back triangle and then added the front part. After adding a cargo basket to the structure, 39 _____.

Now came the hard part: the driving mechanism. I started with the usual design used for two-wheeled cargo bikes, but it took me quite some time to figure out how to pass the driving force to both wheels without allowing the whole thing to lock itself in any angle.

40 _____, but I'm sure I can use the knowledge I gained one way or another.

- The project was demanding
- I decided to get my hands dirty again
- I fell in love with three-wheeler bikes
- I put all the parts together for the first time
- It took me quite some time to understand the ideas behind it
- The engine driven constructions were always the most difficult to fix
- The consequence was that the driving mechanism locked itself occasionally

第三部分 语言运用(共两节,满分30分)

第一节 (共15小题;每小题1分,满分15分)

阅读下面短文,从每题所给的A、B、C、D四个选项中选出可以填入空白处的最佳选项。

When I was in third grade, my family and I took on an unforgettable trip across the country. It turned out to be more than just a 41 journey; it was a journey of discovery into our 42.

Every day, Dad 43 us with his trusty road map. Mom, the heart of our family, shared folk tales and painted pictures about the upcoming 44. We went through diverse 45 from the thick forests to the vast deserts of the West.

One day, while hiking through the Grand Canyon, I 46 a particularly rough path. Frightened, I 47, not knowing how to proceed. That's when my parents 48.

As Dad showed me footholds, Mom coached me with calming 49 and reminded me of the breathtaking views that lay ahead. Then, I 50 the confidence as my feet 51 solid ground again. When I finally overcame my fear, I felt we became 52 as a family.

From then on, every evening, we'd gather around a campfire for what we 53 called "Family Reflection Time". During these sessions, we'd share laughter, 54, and insights from the day's experiences.

The trip taught me that the true meaning of travel isn't merely about reaching the destination but about the personal growth that happens on the route, and the family bonds form when we face 55 together.

41. A. crowded B. physical

C. creative D. necessary

42. A. relationships B. potentials

C. dreams D. inspirations

43. A. guided B. encouraged

C. comforted D. attracted

44. A. events B. stations

C. locations D. shows

45. A. cultures B. landscapes

C. groups D. countries

46. A. imagined B. constructed
C. smoothed D. encountered
47. A. froze B. flew
C. fell D. forgot
48. A. reached down B. stood aside
C. stepped in D. turned back
49. A. words B. worries
C. noises D. thoughts
50. A. lost B. maintained
C. demonstrated D. restored
51. A. left B. broke
C. found D. dug
52. A. nicer B. tougher
C. braver D. closer
53. A. originally B. affectionately
C. frequently D. nearly
54. A. sympathies B. conflicts
C. tears D. profits
55. A. challenges B. defeats
C. oppositions D. uncertainties

第二节 (共10小题;每小题1.5分,满分15分)

阅读下面短文,在空白处填入1个适当的单词或括号内单词的正确形式。

Kuang Zhengchao, who grew up in Jiaoyao village, a high-altitude mountainous area with poor land, was raised by tea. His family, which has been growing tea 56 three generations, used to have trouble putting food on the table, 57 now he earns 70,000 yuan a year just from selling tea.

In 2019, Kuang and seven other young people in the village set up a tea cooperative. With the support of the economic cooperative in their village, they 58 (successful) integrated the resources of the tea industry, and carried out the model of unified (统一的) planting, fertilization, processing and sales, attempting 59 (achieve) high quality and a good flavor.

An old house in the village 60 (transform) into a tea processing and exhibition workshop, while the house facing the green 61 (mountain) and the tea garden became a separate tea tasting room.

Last year, the cooperative assigned 40 percent of its 62 (expect) earnings to the shareholders in the village. 63 Mao Huayan, Kuang's wife, received her bonus of 1,097 yuan, she felt like a child 64 (get) "lucky money" during the Spring Festival. More important was the 65 (industry) development that helped them to accumulate wealth.

第四部分 写作(共两节,满分40分)

第一节 (满分15分)

假如你是李华,你和外国交换生Peter计划组织一场名为"Cross-Cultural Food Exhibition"的活动,请写一封邮件给Peter,内容包括:

1. 你对活动形式的建议;
2. 约定时间讨论安排和分工。

注意:1. 写作词数应为80左右;

2. 请按如下格式作答。

Dear Peter,

Best regards,

Li Hua

第二节 (满分25分)

阅读下面材料,根据其内容和所给段落开头语续写两段,使之构成一篇完整的短文。

From the day Tony was born, Jeff refused to let his son's disabilities hold him back. Tony has cerebral palsy (脑瘫), making it difficult for him to walk. Determined to show Tony that he could pursue his dream of being an athlete, when he was 15 years old, Jeff signed him up with Team Triumph, an organization that helps kids with disabilities engage in endurance (耐力) sports.

"It gave me a new perspective on life," Tony said. He even dreamed of walking marathon one day. From then on, Tony became addicted to racing, and Jeff wanted to be a part of it. Though Jeff had been a ~~league~~ baseball player, endurance sports were ~~new~~ him. He made up his mind to achieve Tony's dream, started doing things he never dreamed about. He ~~had~~ waking up at 4 am. So he could run in the silent ~~sun~~ while pushing Tony in a special wheelchair ~~call~~ racing chair. Every morning, he drove himself ~~to~~ increasingly longer distances. Soon, he and Tony ~~were~~ entering 5K races, then on to triathlons.

Finishing the Iron-man competition in under ~~hours~~ would be another dream for Jeff and Tony. The day came. The race began with a 2.4-mile swim in ~~the~~ river. Jeff helped Tony into a kayak (皮艇). With ~~the~~ end of a rope tied to a belt around his back and the ~~other~~ end to the kayak, Jeff eased himself into the ~~water~~. Swimming while dragging another person is quite ~~tough~~. The pair completed the swim in 90 minutes, and then ~~was~~ on to the next leg: a 112-mile bicycle ride. The custom-built bike had an additional seat in the back ~~for~~ Tony that faced backward.

After completing the demanding bike part in ~~over~~ nine hours, they set their sights on the final leg of the race — a 26.2-mile marathon with Jeff pushing Tony in the racing chair. They'd been competing for 10 hours with only 6 hours left for the race. The first 7 miles went smoothly.

注意:1. 续写词数应为150左右;

2. 请按如下格式作答。

But at mile 19, Jeff began to worry they ~~were~~ going too slow.

Jeff handed Tony his rolling walker (助行器)

CS 扫描全能王

3亿人都在用的扫描App